

WorkRamp and GDPR

Overview

The European Union's General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) promote a safe and secure internet. In accordance with these regulations, WorkRamp prioritizes privacy by design and endeavors to minimize the collection and storage of personally identifiable information from our enterprise users. We are committed to transparency and have published details of our GDPR compliance efforts.

Privacy Notice

WorkRamp's Privacy Notice is regularly updated to reflect how your data is processed and to clearly outline your rights and access to your data.

Subprocessors

A list of WorkRamp's subprocessors can be found here.

Data Mapping

WorkRamp has audited and removed non-essential personal data collection from its application as part of its GDPR compliance efforts, demonstrating its commitment to data minimization and data mapping principles.

Deletion

An enterprise user has the right to request that we delete all of their personal data, with cooperation from their account administrator. Users who wish to inquire about the right to be forgotten can contact us at support@workramp.com.

Portability

An enterprise user can request access to a copy of the personal data that we have collected by contacting us at support@workramp.com.

Modification

A user can modify their information at any time within their profile view, or through their account administrator.

Data Processing Addendum (DPA)

Customers may access and request an execution of WorkRamp's Data Processing Addendum (DPA) at any time, available here.
